

Glen Run Shoot Out

The PPC has arranged with the Pocono Heritage Land Trust (PHLT) to photograph their seven properties and provide some quality photography for each property for their website. The benefit will run both ways, as the images will be properly credited to the PPC member photographer.

The newest PHLT property is the Glen Run Nature Preserve, and they are holding a grand opening ceremony for that property on June 23rd. We are planning a shootout there on Wednesday evening at 6 PM, June 13th so that we can provide them with some images prior to that opening (we hope).

The property is a nature preserve, so some of the photography should reflect that fact and show some of the natural features. But it has also been developed in part as a mountain biking trail system location. The 6 PM Wednesday time frame coincides with the Pocono Bike Club weekly ride and there will be mountain bike riders there on the trail system. The trails include some interesting jumps and obstacles, so for sports photographers, there should be opportunities for some fairly dramatic shots. Sunset is at about 8:30 PM, so we will have evening light, which should also make for an interesting event.

Please come out and enjoy yourselves and try not to interfere with the bikers in the process.

The location is off of Bangor Mountain Road (Route 191) south of Stroudsburg. Over the top of the crest of the first hill where Stroudmoor is located and then another quarter mile or so on the left side of the road. There is a parking area there and trails start from that location. The attached maps show it in more detail
